CUP O' JOE

Big news, True Believers!

I recently had a dizzying discussion about BLACK PANTHER with a rabid reporter from the New York Times. That's right, bunky, the world's most premier and respected newspaper is covering our newest release chronicling the adventures of T'Challa and the wondrous world of Wakanda!

So, from the pages of the Times of New York to the boulevards of Hollywood we shall go. The start of '05 will bring us not one, but two West Coast luminaries who'll be sinking their celluloid teeth into the world that is Marvel. Acclaimed scribe and director Reginald Hudlin (House Party, Boomerang, Bernie Mac Show) and certified Marvel genius John Romita, Jr. promise us a BLACK PANTHER story for the ages, and I personally guarantee you all that there will be events happening in BLACK PANTHER that will effect the Marvel U in MAJOR ways in the months to come.

Then from the movies we jump to TV where renowned writer Allan Heinberg (The O.C., Sex and the City) gives us the newest title in our "Marvel Next" initiative and what has been called the most anticipated comic of 2005, THE YOUNG AVENGERS! Joining Allan is "Young Gun," Jim Cheung (hey, say that ten times fast, it's fun and it rhymes). Mark my words, this will prove to be Jim's breakout title and everyone's favorite comic by year's end! It's already mine!

Speaking of "Marvel Next," let's not forget the return of Brian K. Vaughan and Adrian Alphona's critically acclaimed RUNAWAYS, you cats have been asking for it and here it is, so enough with the letters already! And finally, before I pass out from hyperventilation, let me introduce another brand new edition to the Marvel U, LIVEWIRES by the legendary Adam Warren.

Whoa, I need to sit down!

See ya in the funnybooks,
